

GETTYSBURG COLLEGE BIG BRILLIANT NINETIETH COMMENCEMENT.

Over the Top with a Million Dollars and a New Y. M. C. A.
Building.

The First Commencement of Gettysburg College, for under that name not yet a year old, the ninetieth commencement was held this week. It was a big, brilliant affair, with many old boys back to help along the celebration. The high spots of the week were the dedication of the handsome Robert Weidensall Y. M. C. A. Hall presented by the Woman's League of the College and the Million Dollar Drive going over the top with a comfortable margin.

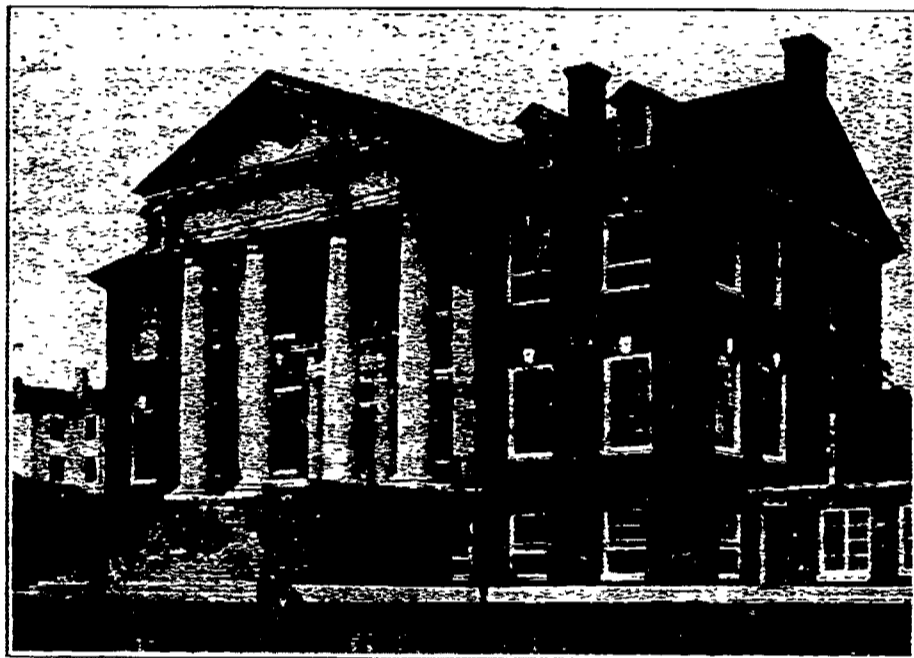

The leading entertainment features were unusually successful. The Pan-Hellenic Dance on last Friday evening was a brilliant and huge success. The "Sick A Bed" play presented by the Owl and Nightingale Dramatic Club was declared to be one of the cleverest plays ever produced here and turned out more like a professional production than an amateur one. The concert by the Combined Musical Clubs of the College was pronounced excellent, delightful. Everything was going at a great pace until the boys fagged with

The dedication ceremony was then performed by the venerable Dean P. M. Bickle. In a few short sentences he dedicated the new building, the Robert Weidensall Y. M. C. A. Hall. The new college song entitled "Alma Mater," was then sung by the crowd, followed by the doxology and the pronouncement of the benediction by Dean Bickle.

The new Weidensall Y. M. C. A. Hall after dedication was thrown open to the crowd and delighted everyone as furnishing a greatly needed element to student life. It has been finished at an expense of about $75,000.

The building is of the colonial type of architecture and was designed by George C. Baum, the college architect of Philadelphia, a picture of the finished structure being given in this issue. The building has two floors, a garret and a basement, and is constructed of face brick. Four wooden pillars support the architrave. The eastern portico, named in honor of John P. Dapp, is reached by a series of granite steps and the western one is named in honor of President Wm. A. Granville. In front flanking the steps is a brick foundation with stone coping which will support two bronze lamp standards.

The first floor of the building consists of a main lobby with well-lighted reading rooms leading from it. A fire-place is located in the lobby. On the second floor is a large room which may be used for meeting purposes. In addition, there are a number of festivities went up against Mt. St. Mary's base ball team on Tuesday afternoon and there was a fluke, 14 to 1 and after a wonderfully well played series during the season.

The Baccalaureate Sermon to the graduating class was delivered Sunday morning by Dr. G. U. Wenner class of 1903, of New York City, in College Lutheran Church. Dr. Wenner pointed out that College graduates are not completing their education but are now entering the post graduate course of life with larger lessons to be learned with the carrying of messages to and doing of service to fellowmen.

In the evening in the same church Rev. William S. Fischer, class of 1872 of Shamokin, delivered the Alumni Sermon, and the theme he enlarged was that Brain power should not exploit men but should help and serve mankind.

Weidensall Y. M. C. A. Hall

Under skies as smiling as the benediction of God the new Robert Weidensall Y. M. C. A. building was dedicated on Tuesday afternoon on the Dapp Portico in the presence of one of the largest Commencement crowds ever seen on the campus of Gettysburg. A crowd estimated at 1200 witnessed the ceremonies which began at 1.30 P. M. with a hymn. Following the hymn Mrs. Henry Hanson, of Harrisburg, Pa., President of the General Woman's League delivered a brief but very spicy address. This was followed by the scripture reading by Charles Luther Mogel, class of 1923, president of the College Y. M. C. A.

Dr. S. G. Hefelbower, class of 1901, predecessor of Dr. Granville as president of the College, then offered prayer.

After this greetings from Mrs. Mary G. Stuckenberger, founder of the Woman's League twelve years ago, and Robert Weidensall, an alumnus of the College and the world's most widely known Y. M. C. A. worker were read by Mrs. Hanson.

Their messages paid high tribute to the consecrated work of the women of the Leagues for their magnificent contribution to the student welfare of the College.

The principal address of the occasion was delivered by one of Gettysburg's most distinguished sons, ex-Provost Edgar Fahs Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania, who was introduced by Mr. John F. Dapp, President of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Smith's address was one of the finest tributes to Christian culture in education that was ever heard on the campus of Gettysburg and ought to be read by every one interested in the security of our present civilization.

Following the address of Dr. Smith, Mrs. Hanson, standing on the top step of the front porch, presented the building to the care and custody of the College. The response and acceptance of the building was made by Dr. Granville, President of the College.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

mittee of the Board to employ a financial manager of the fund if it deems it wise to do so.

The Board of Trustees, to guard against burdensome extravagance, passed a resolution that no Frat. building to be erected in the future is to cost more than $15,000 and that the two roomers now allowed in each building shall be confined to men from the two upper classes.

The petition from the fraternities to be allowed to use their buildings as dormitories during the present congested conditions was referred to the faculty.

A recommendation was presented by the Executive Committee to the Board that after 1923 no women students be admitted to Gettysburg College.

Dr. Jacob A. Clutz, a member of the Executive Committee, dissented from the report.

Action upon the recommendation was postponed until the December meeting of the Board.

Upon the reception of certain complaints by the Board of Trustees a committee was appointed to investigate the complaints and report to the Board at the call of the President.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees on Tuesday it was unanimously decided, upon Miss Sallie Krauth's resignation as assistant librarian, that she be granted an annual pension of $400.

Miss Krauth is the daughter of our first regular College President, Charles Phillip Krauth, who served from 1834 to 1850.

She will be remembered by the students of many decades for her quiet, faithful and ever courteous treatment of the callow youths who often went into the library neither knowing what they wanted nor where to find it.

It is only recently that Miss Krauth, at her own request, was given the position of assistant librarian. She was for many years librarian in chief.

The real high spot of the week came at the Alumni Collation given by the ladies of Gettysburg to the graduates at noon Wednesday at the Academy.

Rev. J. E. Baker, D.D., the indefatigable chairman of the Million Dollar Drive, announced that the total he had to report was first mile, $275,000; Woman's League, $75,000, and second mile, $238,436, a total of $588,436. Rev. William Sunday reported contributions to the thousand dollar club of $17,000, and Rev. Henry Anstadt, $3,000 so that the grand total of the drive was $1,008,735.

Graduating Exercises.

Before an audience that taxed Brua Chapel to the walls the class of 1922 was graduated on Wednesday morning June 13th.

The program began with prayer by Rev. Daniel M. Moser, of the class of '72, which this year celebrated its 50th anniversary.

Following the prayer the audience sang that grand old hymn "Blessing and honor and glory and power."

This was followed by the Salutatory address by Miss Ruth Anna

Spangler of Gettysburg, Pa. Gettysburg has a right to be proud of the honors this young lady captured.

The graduating exercises were marked with a most interesting address by Major General Merritte Weber Ireland, Surgeon General of the United States Army. Introducing his theme he said:

Perhaps I have made an error in the selection of the subject for my address. It may have been better to have adhered to the old custom, in which the class is congratulated in the first successful step in life and with advice as to the future. But during the last two years, certain information has come into the possession of the Medical Department relating to the physical examination of the men who were inducted into the service during the world war, which to my mind is of immense importance to our nation, and I have had the temerity to select for my subject, "The Physical Defects Discovered in the Selective Draft Men During the World War."

An unusual opportunity was afforded during the late war to the medical profession of this country to obtain definite information from the reports of the examinations of the selective service men in regard to the physical condition of the young men of this country, between the ages of 21 and 30.

After an exhaustive review of the physical defects of the men he concluded as follows:

But enough has been said to indicate that many of the defects enumerated above have had a serious bearing on the economic value of the young men of our country. I have no doubt that many in my hearing appreciate that a great number of such defects can be avoided if proper public health measures are adopted throughout this country. A few of these measures can be enumerated.

There should be frequent professional physical examinations of our school children and their life while in public school should be supervised by public health officials. Children with diseased tonsils, adenoids, defective teeth, and many other minor disabilities which are easily corrected by proper measures, would be discovered and their defects eliminated. It is now known that a great many of the disabilities which we acquire are caused by focal infections which are easily removed. It will be remembered that defects of locomotion were found most frequently in the selective draft men. Practically all of those defects can be remedied by proper measures.

Under the Act of June 4, 1920, provision was made for the training of young men in the country each summer in civilian training camps; for the training of the organized Reserves of the country, and of the National Guard. In these camps it is required that the young men be examined before training begins. A tremendous amount of good will result from this physical examination, if carried on in the proper way. Minor disabilities will be discovered and advice given regarding their correction, so as to prevent them from becoming permanent disabilities in the future.

Great encouragement should be given to life extension work. In this work a program of general education is carried on to inform lay people how they should live to prevent the premature development of unnecessary disabilities. It also provides for the periodical physical examination of all people after they arrived at the age of forty, when certain degenerative changes are apt to develop, which, if discovered in time, can be stopped by proper advice as to curative measures.

A general education should also be conducted in this country with regard to the social diseases, which are so wide-spread among our people. It certainly must have been a shock to the fathers and mothers of the country to learn through the selective draft examination of the great number of their sons who were suffering from these diseases. To my mind there is no problem which should command more serious consideration from our people than the suppression of the venereal diseases. This can only be accomplished by a broad educative campaign, carried on year after year in a most energetic way.

The Valedictory address was delivered by Mr. Milton Valentine Burgess of Pittsburg, Pa.

Following the Valedictory address President Granville conferred the degrees of B.A. and B.S. on the following graduates.

It was a solemn moment when, after all the graduates had passed by him and taken their seats, Dr. Granville drew from the platform desk one lone diploma, that of Hubert Miller Linn, who only last week lost his life by drowning. With deep feeling Dr. Granville told the class that he was going to send the diploma to Mr. Linn's parents and urged them to carry on his life's work by each doing a little more. A beautiful letter from Mr. Linn's parents was also read by him.

Prof. John Shaffer Hall, Doctor of Science.

Mrs. Charles Baker, Master of Arts.

Miss Shumaker, Master of Arts. An special impressiveness was added to the exercises by the sudden disrobing of ten seniors, who flung their commencement gowns on the back of their seats and went up to the platform in military uniform to take the oath and receive their commission as second lieutenants in the reserve officers corps. It thrilled those with an ecclesiastical memory for it recalled the days of Muhlenberg.

Following a brief address to the class by President Granville and the singing of a hymn the audience adjourned.

Honorary Degrees.

The following honorary degrees were announced by Dean P. M. Bickle who said in presentation:

Doctor of Laws.

Major General Merritte Weber Ireland, Washington, D. C. General Ireland is now the Surgeon General of the United States Army. After his graduation from the Detroit College of Medicine and serving an internship of two years in a Detroit hospital, he continued his medical studies in Philadelphia, graduating from Jefferson Medical College in 1891. Immediately after, on examination, he was commissioned as a First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon in the United States Army. With mind intent on improving his qualifications, and faithful devotion to his medical duties, his rise was rapid. To the time of the Spanish-American War he served continuously with troops west of the Mississippi and the diversity of stations and the variety of duties served as a good school to qualify him for his medical military career that followed. Then came his service in Cuba, the Philippine Insurrection, along the Mexican border, and the World War. General Pershing esteemed him most highly as Chief Surgeon of the American Expeditionary forces. On the retirement of Surgeon General Gorgas, he was appointed as his successor with the rank of Major General. Through all the grades of Lieutenant, Captain, Major, Colonel, Brigadier General, the promotions were made on special merit. He received British and French decorations in addition to the American Distinguished Service Medal.

Rev. George Unangst Wenner, New York City.

To be retained as pastor of the same congregation for more than half a century is an enviable tribute especially when that congregation is in a city like New York. This distinction belongs to Dr. Wenner. This evidence of his superior attainments is further attested by his public addresses and the products of his pen. It is conceded that he as author of "Religious Education and the Public School," published in 1907, is the pioneer of Week-day Religious education. In Liturgics he ranks fully abreast with the most competent scholars of the Church, and for many years was chairman of the Liturgical Committee of the General Synod. At its very beginning the Federal Councils of the Churches of Christ in America chose Dr. Wenner to represent the Lutheran Church. As President time and again of his Synod, President of general boards of the church, representative repeatedly of civic and ecclesiastical organizations, his eminent qualifications have received uncommon recognition.

President John A. Haas, Allentown, Pa.

After his graduation at the University of Pennsylvania and the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Dr. Haas spent a year at the University of Leipzig. On his return from Germany he was ordained a Lutheran minister and, after sixteen years as pastor with conspicuous success, he was elected in 1904 President of Muhlenberg College. His successful administration of this office is attested by the progress that institution has made in new buildings, and general equipment, increase of endowment, increase in the number of students, and the advancement in rank among the colleges of our country. He is an ex-president of the large Ministerium of Pennsylvania and of the Board of Education of the General Council. In the Lutheran Commentary he is the author of the Commentary on the Gospel according to St. Mark, and of the Lutheran Cyclopedia he was a coeditor and contributor. Other works also can be credited to his authorship, and the products of his busy brain and pen often appear in reviews and other periodicals. Teacher, preacher, theologian, author, college president—this is the enviable career of Dr. Haas.

Doctor of Divinity.

Rev. David T. Koser, Arendtsville.

After his graduation in 1871, Mr. Koser taught Mathematics one year in Missionary Institute. He then returned to Gettysburg and, after pursuing his course in our Theological Seminary, was ordained to the Gospel Ministry in 1874. The pastorate he is now serving has been in the field of his labors for about four decades, and the longer he serves the more influential he becomes. His power has been felt not only by his immediate parishioners but also by the community at large, especially in civic and educational interests; and his solid attainments and safe leadership are recognized by all.

Rev. Albert Oswald Mullen, Spring Grove, Pa.

Mr. Mullen, while residing in Baltimore, connected officially with the chief penal institution of Maryland, showed the true spirit of the student in using his spare time for post-graduate work in Johns Hopkins University. He had almost completed his course for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy when he was called to his present pastorate, where his duties consumed all his time. During his service in the ministry he has given evidence not only of fine qualifications as preacher and pastor but also a marked capacity for administrative duties both in congregation and synod. Evidence of this has been given as Secretary of his Synod, member of the Educational Committee, and as Statistical Secretary of the General Synod. Among his writings the contributions he made to one of the Hopkins periodicals was regarded as distinctly valuable.

Rev. James Alexander McAllister, Porto Rico.

Professor McAllister is a member of our class of '08. He pursued his theological course at Princeton Theological Seminary, graduating in 1901, and afterwards did post-graduate work at Princeton, Columbia and Chicago Universities. Under appointment of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions he was sent to Porto Rico where he has been for about twenty years, engaged most of the time in theological education. After several promotions he became Dean and Professor of Systematic Theology in the Evangelical Seminary of Porto Rico, and is now the President of that institution. He is the author in the Spanish language of courses in Old Testament History, Systematic Theology, the Life of Christ, and several others. His colleagues speak of his work and attainments in the highest terms of praise.

Rev. Arthur N. Bean, Paterson, N. J.

Mr. Bean was graduated as a member of our class of 1901. After his theological course in our Seminary he entered upon the work of the ministry with all the earnest vigor for which he is so well known. A classmate in close touch with him recently speaks of "his scholarship, his energy, and the versatility of his pen" in the highest terms of appreciation, adding that "he is regarded in Paterson as one of the leading pastors of that great city." He has been invariably in the forefront of the best civic movements in that city, and has been the sponsor for many things of the highest cultural value. His contributions to the religious and secular press are quite frequent and much esteemed, and the high class of his own parish monthly is additional evidence of his skill with the pen

Seaweed Scenes.

With a needle and human hair pictures have been produced on silk and ivory which have amazed the art critics.

This fact is recalled by a catalogue of freak pictures which has lately been published. Landscapes, seascapes, portraits, and natural history pictures have been produced with extraordinary skill.

Needlework and beadwork pictures are fairly common, and shell, seaweed, and feather pictures were also very popular at one time. Seaweed pictures date back to 1780, when "an unknown lady" exhibited three landscapes in oil. "The trees and shrubs being made in seaweed—a new invention," to quote the catalogue.

Pictures cut in paper were also frequently exhibited, while on one occasion a lady exhibited a festoon of flowers cut in cork.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the throat.

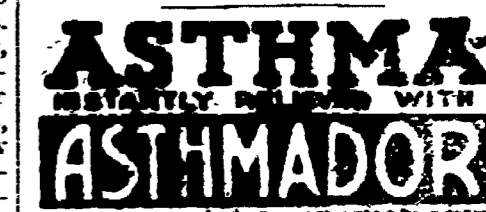

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc.

Limits of Submarine. In a contribution to the submarine-versus-battleship controversy, Admiral Sir H. Bacon, quoted in the Scientific American, states that because of the constructional conditions attending submarine design, a craft which navigates below water loses a large percentage of her surface fighting efficiency. Ten for ton, the fighting and scouting efficiency of a submersible craft of whatever size is only about 15 percent of that of the surface vessel. Sir George Owens Thomson, naval architect of Vickers, Limited, gives figures to show that a submarine of 5,500 tons, having a surface speed of 30 knots, could mount an armament of only one 5.5-inch and one 3-inch gun.

Boy Wanted

Somewhere in this town is one boy who is a "go-getter" spirit, full of grit and ambition, and absolutely honest. We want that boy. He will be the only boy agent in this town for the famous MOVIE WEEKLY MAGAZINE. He will work after school and other spare time. His pay will be what he makes it: besides fine prize and Free Movie Tickets. When he makes good, he will be promoted. If you are between 14 and 19 years old, determined to "make good" and truly think you are the boy for this job, then apply by letter to Mr. E. L. Gilbert, "Personal," 3rd floor, 119 West 40th Street, New York City. Give full details of any past selling experience; your age; parent's full name and business; your school grade and at least two references.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS.

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbor.
Mrs. H. H. Tawney, 9 Steinwehr Ave., Gettysburg, says: "I know how kidney trouble pulls one down for I had quite a severe backache and kidney weakness some years ago. Such heavy work as washing always did play hard on my back, in fact if I did any of it my back felt so lame and stiff that I could hardly straighten up. Severe pains went through my back when I turned or moved suddenly and I have very often been nervous and had spots and specks blur my sight. My kidneys were very unnatural. It was for these troubles that I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they did splendid work in driving the backache from me and doing away with the nervousness. All the signs of kidney complaint were removed and I am more than glad to confirm the statement I gave in praise of Doan's in 1916. They are a fine medicine indeed."
